

Grauer School hosts internationally-acclaimed environmental business leader May 29

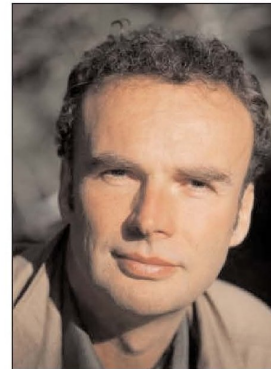

The Grauer School in Encinitas will host a presentation on-campus by internationally acclaimed environmental business leader, author and Rancho Santa Fe resident Paul Hannam on Thursday, May 29, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on the subject of the potentially life-changing impact the new green economy will have on individuals and businesses worldwide. Titled, "A Bright Green Future: Why Investing in the Green Economy Makes Sense for Your Business, Your Family, and Your Community," the event is open to the public. The school is located at 1500 El Camino Real in Encinitas and tickets are available for purchase at $15-$20. Ten percent of all tickets proceeds will be donated to the Surfrider Foundation.

Originally from England, Hannam was an Associate Fellow at the Oxford University Environmental Change Institute from 2001 to 2005. Currently, he serves as Chairman of the Board for Greenest Host, the leading provider of green web hosting, web development and web marketing services to green and ethical businesses. He is also co-founder and Chairman of Bright Green Talent, a venture that recruits top talent for organizations that are committed to sustainability and corporate social responsibility.

According to Head of School Dr. Stuart Grauer, "We are honored to host this presentation as the entire Grauer community – faculty, students, parents and alumni – are committed to preserving and protecting the environment. We look forward to hosting Mr. Hannam on a tour of our two-acre wildlife reserve located right here on The Grauer School grounds, and invite all attendees to participate alongside us, as we embrace and learn more about this important movement." The Grauer School's green program is featured in a film, "Carbon Nation," (Director/Producer Peter Byck) scheduled to premier at the Sundance Film Festival in 2009.
